Online Resources
Access to 50,000+ full text journals and 275 online databases. You don’t have to come to the library - the library comes to you! All through lib.asu.edu

Interlibrary Loan and Document Delivery
Get materials that are not available online or owned by ASU through one of our request options, delivered straight to your computer: lib.asu.edu/services/request

Library Guides
Created by subject librarians, Library Guides connect you and your students to customized resources for specific subjects, topics and courses, all in one spot: libguides.asu.edu

Library Instruction
Your subject librarian can create a customized lesson for your classes on library resources, database searching, citing sources or other topics. Bring your class to the library or the librarian can visit your class: lib.asu.edu/instruction

Curricular Support
We provide services and resources that support your curriculum, including course reserves, media booking and linking electronic resources in course management software, like Blackboard and Learning Studio. Find your librarian at lib.asu.edu/librarians

Open Access Publishing
We encourage open access publishing through memberships to major open access publishers that either reduce or eliminate your author publishing charges. Visit libguides.asu.edu/scholcomm for more information.

ASU Digital Repository
Add your scholarly and creative works to the ASU Digital Repository. Your text, video, audio, and data files will be preserved, stored, and made accessible via commercial and library search engines. Visit repository.asu.edu to start your digital collection today!
Your subject librarian is here to assist you with your library research needs. E-mail or call your librarian, or schedule an in-person consultation for

- Searching research databases and the library catalog
- Obtaining articles electronically
- Using citation management software, such as RefWorks & EndNote
- Linking articles in course management software, such as Blackboard & Learning Studio
- Keeping current with the literature through database alerts
